

MASONS TO LAY CORNERSTONE OF CLUB SATURDAY

Work Will Be Pushed On the Structure at Bowditch and Bancroft Way.

BERKELEY, April 22. — Under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Masons, the ceremonies at which the cornerstone of the new Masonic Clubhouse for University of California students will be laid will be conducted on Saturday afternoon. The clubhouse, costing approximately $80,000, will be erected at the southwest corner of Bancroft way and Bowditch street. The building will be a one-story structure of masonry with stone trimmings and will be of Georgian Colonial style of architecture. Grading and foundation work have already been completed on the structure. The foundation and retaining walls have been made sufficiently strong to carry two additional stories to the building if desired. The basement has been entirely excavated to make further development in this respect possible. The interior of the club has been planned by the architect, Carl Werner, to meet any occasion. The main club room, which is to be 40 by 75 feet, is directly in front of the social hall, which is 40 by 75 feet. Heavy doors are provided for by which the club room and social hall may be separated. When opened into each other, when used as an auditorium these two rooms will accommodate 500 people. If used as a banquet room 350 may be seated with comfort. The money for the club house has been raised throughout the state by Masonic lodges and chapters of the Eastern Star, about $105,000 having been thus far subscribed. The drive for funds is being continued in order that at least a partial endowment fund may be provided. Conservative estimates indicate that to properly maintain the institution will cost nearly $500 a year and plans are made to have the endowment fund take care of a portion of this cost. The men and women of the University of California who are Masons, or belong to the Order of Eastern Star, or who come from families connected with these bodies.

He distinguished bravery in the battle of Peachtree Creek, Georgia, July 20, 1864, while a captain in the 15th Michigan Infantry, he was awarded the congressional medal of honor in 1876. He was awarded the medal a second time for "distinguished gallantry in action against the Indians in Texas, November 8, 1874."

"The time will come when this country will recognize the Soviet government of Russia," Debs said. "The workers of the world are beginning to awaken to the fact that they are in the mud and should rule. In Russia they are making the sublime experiment. The fact remains that the Soviet government still stands despite all the misrepresentations in the past five years."

How Do You Feel Today?

The public health movement for schools and colleges to teach the importance of physical health is one of the greatest factors at work for the betterment of mental hygiene. The control of infectious and contagious diseases, improved conditions in home and factories, playgrounds for children, health centers and physical and mental examinations of school children all aid in the prevention of physical and mental disease. The matter of food, work, recreation and sleep all play an important role in mental well-being. In these days of scientific articles and books on the subject of nutrition, there is no excuse for the anemic, undernourished and proverbially irritable and pessimistic dyspeptic, nor for the dull and somnolent product of overeating.

The bust unveiled in New York is an enlarged replica of one which she made of the poet from life. The modeled likenesses of Miller is to be placed by the California Society in the poet's cabin in Rock Creek Park, Washington.

LIQUOR SHIPPIES DECREASING FAST, DECLARES RUTTER

Prohibition Director Says
Bootleggers Alarmed
Over Situation.

There is a decided decrease in the amount of liquor, real or otherwise, making its way into the East-bay district and San Francisco, and the bootleggers are becoming worried because of the shortage, declares Samuel F. Rutter, prohibition director for California.

The liquor shortage, both of the kind smuggled into the country by run runners and the ordinary moonshine is attributed by Director Rutter to the activities of his enforcement officers. "We have been on the lookout lately for several reputed shipments that have not appeared," said Rutter, "and the bootleggers are up against it. Stopping the supply is the way to dampen the bootleg ardor. Being unable to replenish their stock has badly 'crimped' the schemes of these traffickers."

Then Director Rutter turned his attention to the arguments of those who claim that crime has increased with prohibition. On the contrary, he maintains, the crime situation is decidedly better than it was before the war and prohibition is largely responsible for the improvement.

CRIME STATISTICS CITED
In citing statistics on crime in the state, Director Rutter said:

"Among the greatest improvements is that shown by the number of arrests for drunkenness, the average annual number for the three years since prohibition being 14,445 against 27,505, the annual average for the three years prior to prohibition, a decrease of 47 per cent in the face of an average yearly increase in population of 4.4 per cent and a much greater discrimination and activity on the part of police departments in reporting drunkenness."

"Available figures on deaths from alcoholism show an annual average of fifty-three for two years immediately following prohibition against an annual average of 293 for the five years preceding it, a decrease of 74 per cent."

"The reports of the state superintendent of banks show an increase in bank deposits and deposits of 48 per cent and 37.7 per cent respectively, for the three years subsequent to the three years preceding prohibition, and it must be remembered that the year 1921 was one of serious unemployment."

"In school attendance, a comparison of the State Board of Education records shows a daily average for the past three years 23 per cent higher than the daily average for the preceding three years."

HOME CONDITIONS IMPROVED

"The juvenile court statistics and the testimony of various probation officers, divorce court judges and welfare commissioners all bear witness that conditions in the home are incalculably improved and all unite in the opinion that the most potent factor in this improvement is the enforcement of prohibition. "Figures for the state of California for the three months ending December 31, 1932, are as follows: Number of automobiles seized 117, value $25,150; gallons of mash seized, 49,417; value of property seized and destroyed, $10,300; value of property seized and not destroyed, $37,837; illicit stills seized, 153; value of spirits seized and destroyed, $2,231; seized and not destroyed, $10,155; value of malt liquor seized and destroyed, $500; seized and not destroyed, $32; value of wine seized and destroyed, $3768; value of wine seized and not destroyed, $146,878; gallons of cider seized and destroyed, 310; number of arrests in performance of duty, 2; number of arrests, 1904."

Repopulation Law Rejected by Turks

TWO ARE FOUND UNCONSCIOUS AFTER WRECK

Stanford Student and Girl
Are Hurlled From Auto Near Cliff House.

A Stanford University student and a young woman, discovered in an unconscious condition near a wrecked automobile on the Great Highway early Sunday, escaped an accident, which is being investigated today by the San Francisco police.

As a result of the smash, Arthur Miller, 23 years old, a student at the Stanford University, and Miss Madeline Saxe, 19, were treated at the San Francisco Emergency hospital for serious injuries. Miller is suffering from concussion of the brain, and lacerations of the face, and is said to be in a serious condition. Miss Saxe sustained possible internal injuries and severe cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred shortly after 1:30 a. m., within a few feet of the Cliff House, San Francisco, when their car was filled with merry-making motorists. A wrecked automobile was jammed against the cliff on the side of the highway not far from where the couple were lying.

The machine bore the license of Fowell Brothers, Fresno.

Police believe that Miller's machine skidded when he attempted to make the curve at the Cliff House and overturned, hurling him and his companion to the highway.

After receiving treatment at the Central emergency hospital, Miller was taken to St. Mary's, while Miss Saxe was removed to the Mt. Zion hospital. Neither Miss Saxe nor Miller was able to tell the cause of the smash.

Her husband, Jefferson Martin, is a street car conductor.

LIBRARIES FOR BUSINESS GROW

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Business libraries that serve specific businesses are increasing rapidly in the East and Middle West, but in other parts of the country the public library is the main source of supply. Miss Virginia Fairfax of New Orleans, vice-president of the Southwestern Library Association, told the American Library Association in convention here today.

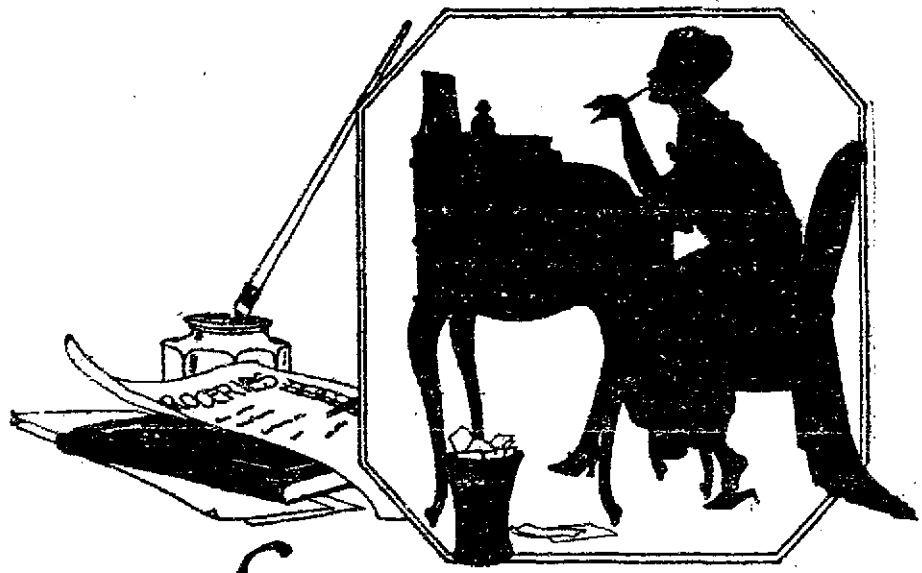

their worth by making available to the executives and their employees the knowledge desired in their par-stream of new and up to date facts gathered from technical periodicals and trade journals, government reports, books and newspapers," said Miss Fairfax.

"Wherever such libraries have been organized their importance has been recognized and they are ever increasing, but in the South there are few business men who realize the value of this service. It is essential that all red tape be cut and that all of the latest matter be on hand. 'First with the Latest' should be the slogan of every library, and new material 'news' should be made immediately accessible to the public."

CHURCHMEN SENTENCED.
RIGA, April 23.—(By The Associated Press.)—Bishop Nient and Deacon Lenokrov have been sentenced to seven years' imprisonment and the deacon to a term of eight years.

Your Home Is Your Castle

Can a man love a home for which he pays rent? Who ever heard of a man dying in defense of his boarding house?

The man who plans and builds your home is trying to get your eye right now with his advertisement under "Building Trades" on the first Classified Want Ad Page in today's TRIBUNE.

A man's home is more than his castle—it is his outer suit of clothes and expresses him as much as any other garment. There are "Ready Made" homes and "Tailored" homes.

The Home is framed like a picture in its neighborhood. That brings up the question of the lot, and you are advised to consider carefully the special offers in Home Sites appearing daily, especially Wednesday, under LOTS FOR SALE (Class No. 40 in the Classified Want Ads of The Oakland Tribune).

The "Painters and Interior Decorators," who will add the finishing touches to your home, will be found under "Building Trades" (Class 7B), "Painting."

Possibly the matter of money is an obstacle. You are referred to the announcements of Brokers and individual advertisers today and daily under MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE (Class No. 52) following the Real Estate Advertising.

Neglected Opportunities

Perhaps you yourself have money lying idle at the usual 4 or 5 per cent interest which you could very well put at the disposal of other Home Builders on gilt-edged security. Such money would return you 7 per cent and would help to build Oakland and furnish employment for Oakland residents. The advertising of such a loan would cost you only $3 a line a month in the Classified columns of the

Lesson No. 7

Vegetable Dishes Enriched With Milk

DIETITIANS claim that the majority of people do not eat sufficient vegetables—that these should constitute a much larger part of the menu than is the common practice in most homes.

Whether they are brought to the kitchen fresh from the garden or in the canned form, most vegetables require some sort of preparation and many of them are vastly improved by being creamed or cooked with milk.

For creaming vegetables Carnation Milk is especially convenient, both because it is ready at an instant's notice and because its richness adds much to the quality of the dish.

The basis of all creamed vegetables is the cream white sauce. I make it this way.

Cream White Sauce

2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup pepper.

Melt butter or butter substitute, add flour and stir until thoroughly mixed. Add the milk and cook about five minutes or until the mixture thickens, then add seasonings. This recipe makes one cup of white sauce.

Carrots and peas make almost as good partners as the well known firm of Ham and Eggs, and many people who do not care for carrots by themselves will eat this nourishing vegetable when served in this combination.

Creamed Carrots and Peas

1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 4 medium sized carrots, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup pepper, 1 small can peas, 1 cup carrot stock. Wash and scrape carrots; cut in fine strips. Cook until tender in boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt has been added. Drain, saving 1 cupful of the water in which the carrots have been cooked for the cream white sauce. 1 small can of peas, drained thoroughly, rinsed in cold water, then scalded quickly in boiling water and drained.

Melt butter, add flour, stirring constantly until thoroughly blended; add the liquid and seasonings. Let boil until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add cooked carrots and peas. This recipe serves six people.

Cauliflower has been called "a cabbage with a college education," and it makes an excellent change from some of the more common vegetables. Either the summer variety or the winter broccoli can be prepared in this manner:

Creamed Cauliflower

1 head cauliflower, 2 cups cream white sauce. Remove outer leaves, soak thirty minutes in cold water with the head down and cook with the head up, twenty minutes or until soft, in boiling salted water. Drain and heat in the cream white sauce. This recipe serves six people.

When the family tires of mashed or fried potatoes, try frying them this way:

Scalloped Potatoes

1 tablespoon salt, 4 medium sized potatoes, 1 1/2 cups water, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 cup butter, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup pepper. Wash, pare and cut potatoes in thin slices. Put a layer in buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and dredge with a small amount of flour. Add milk and butter and bake until potatoes are soft. This recipe serves six people.

Questions and Answers

How can I make a quick chocolate icing without cooking it? Mrs. G. M. C.

Try making it this way: Mix 4 tablespoons cocoa and 8 tablespoons powdered sugar. Add slowly 2 tablespoons Carnation Milk, stirring constantly. Flavor with one drop vanilla.

Why does Carnation Milk keep so well? Mrs. G. W. M.

Because of the extreme care used in manufacturing it. After evaporation the milk is hermetically sealed in cans and then sterilized by heating to a certain temperature. This absolutely prevents it from spoiling in the cans and it will keep sweet several days after opening. The sterilizing or heating process does not affect food value of the milk.

CONTEST DETAILS FOR BERNHARDT MEMORIAL OUT

Sketches to Be Sent to Tribune Thence to Three Judges in Oakland.

Judges were announced today in the art contest for the appropriate memorial design for the tomb of Sarah Bernhardt in Paris, which is being conducted in Oakland by the Orpheum in co-operation with The TRIBUNE.

Those who will pass on the designs submitted by local artists will be Charles W. Dickey, supervising architect of the Oakland schools; Charles W. McCall, architect, and Howard Gilkey, city landscape engineer.

Designs are to be sent to The TRIBUNE, which will place them in the hands of M. A. Anderson, local Orpheum manager. They will be sent to Chicago, there to be placed on display with designs from the entire country.

The prizes will be awarded in Chicago. Oakland artists, it was pointed out, are therefore in competition with the artists of the entire country.

Competition among American artists was undertaken by the Orpheum circuit because it was this organization which first introduced the "Divine Sarah" to the vaudeville public of this country. The prizes will aggregate $500.

Many letters from artists and art organizations have been received signifying approval of the plan. Among them is one from the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts which reads:

"The Orpheum in offering their contest for the Bernhardt tablet has done a very commendable thing, not only for the theatrical world, but for the art world in general. In offering such a large prize they have stimulated the interest not only of the acknowledged artist, but the student in art. This would certainly have met with the approval of Mme. Bernhardt, whose interest in the ambitious student was untiring. The students of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts have entered the contest with enthusiasm."

Sketches for a design which may be reproduced in bronze and which will best symbolize Mme. Bernhardt's inspiration to the advancement and uplift of the stage and her unapproachable place in the world of the theater will be received up to April 30. The terms of the contest make it possible for student as well as professional artists to compete.

Cooks Lead All Quintin of San Quentin

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—(By International News Service.)—The round cook who has dedicated his life to preparing dishes that will satisfy the epicurean whims of man, stands a greater chance of spending a term behind prison bars than any of his associates in other trades or professions, if the prison statistics filed with Governor Richardson by Warden J. A. Johnston of San Quentin prison are to be taken as a criterion.

The stupendous task of attempting to satisfy the "physical man" proves too great a burden in many cases, the records show, and cooks as a class are therefore less accountable for their actions than other workers.

Of 1501 persons committed to San Quentin prison during the past year, 107 were cooks. They led the list by a wide margin, machinists coming second with a total of fifty-eight. Fifty-six clerks were among the new prisoners and fifty automobile mechanics. Forty-nine farmers became convicts during the year and an equal number of chauffeurs joined the prison settlement.

FRENCH ATTITUDE HAS ITS PERIL, SAYS WALPOLE

Political Affairs of Nations
Are Field for Opportunities,
Declares Author

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—"England probably has a greater degree of suzerainty than statements of certain writers would indicate. France takes an attitude that is not without its perils. National isolation of purpose and action has become less tenable than it was in the past."

These are a few of the statements made today by Hush Walpole, prominent author and lecturer, who opened a series of lectures at the Plaza theater. "Psychology and Fiction" was the subject of Walpole's first lecture, which was presided over by Frederick O'Brien, author of South Sea stories.

Other statements made by the speaker were:

"It is doubtful if men who are sincere and profound will attain a paramount influence in political affairs in any nation. It seems to be rather the field of the opportunist."

"The peril of nations and races and civilizations is in losing sight of that which lies somewhat outside of and beyond our actual sphere of action. Intellect and inspiration are not measured by the same gauge."

"The present interest in sex is not so much to be deplored as it is to be considered as a development of freedom of thought. Restriction and censorship have very temporary negative values compared to the positive values of education and beauty."

"Hovels have been made into homes by a few touches of art and decoration."

MODERN CRUSOE WANTS $30,500 FOR EXPERIENCE

Sailor Says He Put In Three Months On Bleak Island,
To File Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—To be marooned on a bleak island, living on roots, berries and other wild foods, for a period of three months, with a fierce hungry wolf for a companion, was the experience of Charles Sellow, according to a complaint drawn up by his attorneys. For these experiences the Alaska Codfish Company and the Union Fish Company. The suit was to be filed today in Superior Court through his lawyers, Adams, Humphreys and Garvey.

According to the complaint, Sellow was a member of the crew of the schooner Maxweema, which left this port April 11, 1922. On May 15 while the Maxweema was lying off the coast of Alaska, Sellow alleges, he was sent out in a "rotten, defective, unsuitable and unsafe" dory to fish, and while he was fishing, a wave wrecked the boat and knocked him unconscious.

The twentieth century Robinson Crusoe alleges that he awoke the following day to find himself on a desolate island with "a shaggy wolf with open mouth standing over plaintiff's head ready to devour him; that thereupon plaintiff screamed and said 'wolf' became frightened and ran away."

Sellow managed to crawl to an some moldy flour and lay in the cabin for two weeks in a sick and weakened condition. He asks for $500 damages for medical services, $25,000 for the shock, and $5000 for his inability to work.

Police Investigate

Attempted Assault

An investigation was made today of an attempted assault upon James Harris, an employee of the standard Gas Engine Company last night by two men armed with lead pipes.

Harris was attacked as he left the Faustina apartment house, Tenth and Oak streets. As he stepped out of the apartment house, one of the men struck at him with a pipe.

When Harris saw the two men closing in on him he ran into the street. A neighbor started to come to his assistance, but instead hastened to a telephone to call the police. In the meantime the assailants escaped.

Capwells

A Different Viewpoint
of the Community Chest

By A. S. LAVENSON.

Vice-President H. C. Capwell Co.

Let us get away from the ordinary conception of the Community Chest and take a new slant at it—one which is more in conformity with the idea of a "community of interests."

To make a practical application, let us regard it as a big insurance plan.

How many people will admit, or would like to have it charged that they are recipients of charity when they recover losses through the insurance companies?

Are these losses really paid by the companies? Not at all. They are paid by the contributions of the policy holders—through the companies, as the machinery for collecting the funds and apportioning them, according to the plans adopted for their distribution.

The whole principle of insurance—fire, life or any other kind—is based on the idea of mutual helpfulness. Those who are fortunate pay more than they get back, so the unfortunate can get back more than they pay.

True, some people do not believe in insurance. If no one believed in it there could be no practical system whereby sufferers from the contingencies of life could be relieved of their burdens.

Insurance is such a big thing in the modern world that the unbeliever can be forgotten as a benighted being. So may we forget those who have no desire to jointly assume the everyday hazards of human existence with those who may need help before the rest.

To continue the application of the principles of insurance: Not all of the income goes to pay losses. Much of it is expended for fire patrols, fire and accident prevention, public health measures, statistical and research bureaus.

In our social system, the welfare organizations serve a similar purpose. Through the Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and the Travelers' Aid Society, safeguards are provided against those economic losses and wastes which are much more expensive to pay for than to prevent.

Let us agree that a contribution to the Community Chest is a payment toward a common fund; that the contributor is fortunate in not being compelled to draw from it in cash; but that he does benefit through its alleviation or prevention of those social maladies which are a menace to all.

The world is using more silk today than ever before and the price is rapidly advancing. Yet the high quality of Phoenix hosiery will ever be stoutly maintained

By giant strides the cost of silk has recently increased more than fifty per cent. Bounding! But in this crisis we will not jeopardize that high quality which has made Phoenix the standard hosiery of the world. Our four thousand skilled and well paid employes must be kept at high efficiency. Wherever prices may go there will be no let-down in established Phoenix methods. The world is finding great uses for silk and costs are rapidly advancing. Therefore, the time to buy is now.

FIRE THREATENS DESTRUCTION OF COTTON MILLS

Blaze, Fanned By Winds, Causes $50,000 Loss;
Homes Damaged.

The $1,000,000 plant of the California Cotton Mills, Kennedy street and Railroad avenue, one of the Eastbay's largest industries, was partially destroyed late yesterday by fire, which, caused by an explosion in the paint storeroom, swept through the machine and carpenter shops, spread to several houses and caused damage estimated today at more than $50,000.

Fanned by a high wind the fire burned through the shop, a one-story frame structure with corrugated iron facing, to the office building and a hospital, while a shower of sparks and burning embers rained down on the roofs of a block of small residences across the street. The tops of many of the houses took fire, and it was only by desperate work that the fire department kept the blaze from wiping out the entire section.

Six hundred and fifty dollars in cash in the branch Community Chest headquarters established at the California Cotton Mills was rescued by Battalion Chiefs M. F. Dohrman and J. H. Burke. The cotton mills is the center of the Community Chest East Oakland Industrial zone. The workers are turning in their receipts and making their reports in a separate headquarters established there. Learning that Community Chest money was in danger of destruction Dohrman and Burke headed a special relief expedition, chopped down the door and broke open the desk, finally rescuing the money and turning it in.

ROOFS ON FIRE
Residences damaged by the flames included the homes of M. Frates, 1088 Kennedy street; Harry Frego, 1078 Kennedy street; Antonio Ayilla, 1070 Kennedy street; and Sylvester Menz, 2200 Livingston street. The roofs of all these residences were ignited with sparks, and their owners and neighbors, assisted the fire department by playing streams of water on them from garden hose, while in some cases hastily formed bucket brigades kept the fire from spreading.

Joseph Perry, 2128 East Fifteenth street, a watchman at the cotton mill, was the only person on the grounds when the fire broke out. As he was approaching the paint storeroom, he was knocked down by an explosion, the cause of which has been undetermined. For several moments he lay stunned upon the ground. Regaining consciousness and seeing flames mounting from the building, he turned in the alarm.

He was later treated at the Emergency hospital for cuts, bruises and shock.

GENERAL ALARM SOUNDED
The fire had gained considerable headway when the department arrived. Fire Chief Sam Short turned in a general alarm. So intense was the heat that it cracked the window glass in the main weaving room, separated from the burning machine shop by an eight-foot alley, and made the brick walls of the building red hot.

Hundreds of bales of raw cotton, stored on the second floor of the mill and worth thousands of dollars, were set amounging and a force of employees and volunteers was hastily organized to save them from destruction. Most of the bales were hauled away and saved.

The flames destroyed valuable lathes and lumber in the machine shop. The storeroom, the recreation room and the employment office were ruined.

BUILDINGS INSURED
Officials of the plant said the machine shop and other buildings destroyed would be immediately replaced. The loss was covered by insurance.

The mills cover a large area. Tracks of the Southern Pacific Company run along the east side of the plant.

While the exact origin of the fire is not known, officials of the cotton mills expressed their belief today that the fire was caused by electric wiring. The blaze had apparently gained some headway before it was discovered in the afternoon by the watchman, when it had eaten its way into the paint storeroom, causing the explosion.

with smoke. So far as is known, Hook was the only person in the building when the fire broke out. The flames were kept on the second and third floors of the building, and damage to the Oakland Market was done by water. The entire first floor was flooded and most of the stock was ruined. More than a score of separate hose lines carried water into the burning structure, and hundreds of gallons of water poured down the stairs, making a good-sized waterfall and flooding the streets.

Twelve engines and three trucks responded to the three alarms. Street car traffic on Twelfth street and Broadway was held up for more than an hour, and the fire was watched by hundreds of persons. On the south end of the building the fire ate its way into the rooms of the Cooks, Waiters and Waitresses' Alliance No. 34. Brobeck declared late today that the building's loss was completely covered by insurance and that it would be immediately renovated.

Several stores in the same block, while not touched by the flames, suffered damage from smoke.

Sign War Begun IN SAN LEANDRO
SAN LEANDRO, April 23.—If the present negotiations fostered by N. C. Jorgensen, real estate man here, prove fruitful, the "For Sale" signs now prominently placed on vacant homes will no longer prove a blot on the community landscape. Jorgensen is advocating a move to do away entirely with the signs. He said today his suggestion is gaining the approval of a majority of real estate men.

An anti-sign suppression movement caused casual visitors, when they witness a number of the signs, according to Jorgensen. They are given to believe there are many more vacant homes here than the facts warrant. And, he said, it cheapens the appearance of a fine home to erect a fifteen cent sign in front of it.

LANDLORDS FACE ABATEMENT SUITS

Commissioner Frank Colbourn today took preliminary steps toward abatement proceedings against buildings where liquor law evasions have been found more than once. "I'm getting tired of these continuous innuendoes that the police department

"About the quickest way to handle the situation is to make the property owner himself watch for evasions of the law on his premises. This is rough on the property owner, but it is fairly effective. The State abatement laws gives us plenty of power in such matters, and we will use that power."

ALAMEDA, April 23.—Improving a rope from his suspenders, Henry C. Reid, a cook of 1105 Twenty-third avenue, Oakland, hanged himself in his cell in the Alameda city jail early yesterday morning. He had been found by Theodore Anderson, desk sergeant, a short time after the act had been committed.

Reid had been arrested by the Alameda police Saturday afternoon in Lincoln park for a statutory offense. He said the man had served in San Quentin for a similar offense.

HOME MADE CAKES AT LODGE SALE

"Mrs. Brown, has anyone asked you to contribute to the cake sale for the lodge next Saturday?"

"No, I hadn't heard that it was Saturday. I knew the committee was planning the sale soon, but I didn't know the date was set."

"Yes, and I didn't understand whether Mrs. Jones told me to see you or said she would herself. Anyway, you know about it now."

"Yes, and I'll make a cake and have it there on time. What time does the sale start?"

"Two o'clock. Oh, and you didn't attend the last meeting, did you? I almost forgot to tell you that we are having a special luncheon at noon Saturday and the sale follows. The state president will be here and give a talk."

"My goodness, I am glad you told me. I must have a new dress before then. I planned to get one but not right away. I'll have to manage some way to get the dress this week."

"I like that blue crepe that you made over. Why not wear that again?"

"I've worn that dress everywhere all winter, and I revolt. I have had my heart set on a pretty spring dress and the spring styles are in now."

"Yes, they are, and let me advise you to visit Cherry's at 515 13th street, where they have such attractive clothes at such reasonable prices. And you may buy on credit with several months to pay, you know."

KING TUT OF THE MANY LAUGHS

Play at Century Deals With Scenes at Late Pharaoh's Tomb.

King Tut's spirit was laid with musical comedy honors at the Century theater last night by Jack Russell and his company who journeyed to Egypt for their laugh material and found plenty of it.

"King Tut's Tomb" is the title of the new offering which has to do with the adventures of a motion picture organization making a film in the land of the Nile. Russell appeared in black-face and kept the house in convulsions of merriment for an hour and a half.

Assisting the comedian were Walter Spencer, Arthur Van Slyke, Billy De Vere, Jackie Bruner, Evelyn Du Fresno, Florence Spurrer and Roland Cully, all of whom contributed in large measure to the success of the entertainment which is enacted in one of the most pretentious scenes yet proffered the patrons of the theater.

In addition to the comedy there was a well-arranged musical program. This featured the Egyptian mummy dance by Bernadine Stead who gave a graceful but colorless interpretation. Miss Stead's work was technically correct but lacked the fire that would have made it eventful. The Knight Riders scored the applause with "Pack Your Sins."

On the bill with "King Tut's Tomb" is "The Woman He Loved" with William Mong, a photoplay with locales in Russia and America and telling a story greatly similar to David Warfield's "The Auctioneer." Mong plays a street urchin to that made notable by the dramatic star.

State Budget Battle Is Waged in Assembly

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Once again the budget battle is in full swing in the Assembly. The week-end having been utilized by both administration and opposition to gain recruits to their ranks. This balance of power between the opposing factions is a very delicate arrangement. Indeed, a matter of one or two votes being sufficient to turn the scale one way or another, since both parties are of almost equal numerical strength.

The anti-administration men are much encouraged by their performance of last week, when the administration gave them a very positive mandate, such as road bills, and other measures of direct benefit to the locality. Los Angeles is simply trying to turn this situation to account by promising members to vote for their bills, if they will in return vote with Los Angeles for the Southern California brand of reappointment. Some legislators are ready to vote for almost anything that will not compel them to return empty-handed to their constituents, and, therefore, appear as if reappointment may have a surprise in store for those who claim that it is a dead issue.

The motor vehicle bill and its subsidiary measure for a two cents per gallon tax on gasoline are also still pending and will have to be taken up as soon as the Assembly Committees on Revenue and Taxation sees fit to report these bills out. An attempt has been made by the committee to refer the bills back to the Assembly Motor Vehicle committee, which would have left matters still more in the air, but was headed off by the committee's chairman and vice-chairman, who refused to concur. It is believed that, when they are once out of the Revenue and Taxation committee, the motor bills will pass this Assembly with some conspicuous success.

The bill can be interpreted as a travesty on the old-style melodrama, the lines and situations paralleling either reading. The Fulton players chose the "straight" interpretation and gave as a unit a creditable performance. With the exception of the melodrama, the other two plays, "The Crook Doctor" and "The Crook Doctor," were the work of John Ivan, who has been the manager for his fire insurance company, and who chose to make the part a caricature.

This lapse of judgment did not detract from the success of the play, however. "Bull Dog Drummond" is a drama in which after a rather tedious first scene, a host of exciting situations develop and interest is ever kept at high pitch. In addition to the dramatic qualities, there is a lot of comedy, made the most of by Warwick. The curtain for the first act, incidentally, was witnessed at the Fulton. It came with the side of Miss Benton's uncle, Warwick, Miss Joel and Sheldon participated in the dramatic pantomime, dividing the honors equally. This play, however, could easily have been played by a false step. Then, in the third act, where Ivan made his faux pas while taking a curtain call, there is a momentary combat between Drummond and the doctor, terminating in the doctor's death. It was a little as if it was staged. Dutton contributed a forceful "bit" in his interpretation of the gang victim, V. T. Henderson was bombastic as the master-mind; and George Rand, Ned Doyle, Lelich and other players gave smooth performances.

AT FULTON ONLY JAR IN SUCCESS

John Ivan's Caricature of the Part Overcome by Fine Work of Company.

By WOOD SOANES
Society thieves, diabolical physicians, unscrupulous ruffians, fearless young men, dainty young women and harpies, people "Bull Dog Drummond," a four-act melodrama, presented at the Fulton theater last night on an elaborate scale as the third vehicle for Robert Warwick's starring season.

"Bull Dog Drummond" as offered here afforded an opportunity for some splendid legitimate acting, a series of melodramatic scenes and, regrettably, in one instance, a burlesque reading of a role that was as inharmonious as it was disappointing.

Warwick finds himself this week in a character quite different from the other two he has played. As Hugh Drummond, an ex-army officer with an insatiable taste for adventure, he advertises in the second act a series of melodramatic scenes, explaining his desires and, through his advertisement, finds both excitement and romance.

Phyllis Benton, who appeals to him for assistance, is the sister of his buddy of war-time adventures. She finds herself in the hands of a gang of international crooks who have hypnotized her uncle and are making a tool of him through the use of narcotics. The gang is also holding captive an American multimillionaire.

The play can be interpreted as a travesty on the old-style melodrama, the lines and situations paralleling either reading. The Fulton players chose the "straight" interpretation and gave as a unit a creditable performance. With the exception of the melodrama, the other two plays, "The Crook Doctor" and "The Crook Doctor," were the work of John Ivan, who has been the manager for his fire insurance company, and who chose to make the part a caricature.

THEATER managers are sitting back in their swivel chairs this week and declaiming with vehemence "I told you so."

If asked to explain they will smile expansively and announce that it is the old story of the man who tried to sell twenty dollar gold pieces for fifty cents and found no takers.

They will tell you that the minute the prices are lowered in response to public demand for lower prices the aforesaid public will wrinkle its brow and declare that there must be something the matter with the reduced rate attraction and will choose some higher price of entertainment.

At the present writing there seems at first glance to be some merit in these managerial declarations. At any rate A. H. Woods has found it so and guided himself accordingly. Woods has abandoned his "two dollar top" policy and gone back to the $2.50 and $3.00 scale.

A week or so ago Woods decided to charge only $2 for "Morphy," which he presented at the Fulton theater with Lowell Sherman featured. For a week the receipts remained with the box office receipts $8,600. Now Woods has lifted the price to $2.50 week nights except Saturday, when $3 is the order of the day.

In Chicago he opened "Light Wines and Beer" at $2 and has lifted it to $2.50; Pauline Frederick starred in "The Gully One" at $2 but business has been such that it will be withdrawn after the end of the four weeks' engagement. Woods, of course, lays the whole blame at the door of the reduced prices.

There is some merit in his contention because the public has been so accustomed to being "bunked" that only the dare-devils take a chance.

That does not mean, however, that a lower scale for theater going will be popular in the long run. Once the price is lowered and the people find that the class of entertainment is not accordingly lowered the managers will find increased returns. It stands for reason.

America has won another war in England. This time it is General Paul Whiteman, who uses a direct line of communication instead of the time-honored sword, who has led his forces to victory through the simple process of playing the music of American pronunciation, all of which apparently had the desired effect.

When Whiteman and his band were engaged as one of the feature acts of "Brighter London" at the Hippodrome in the English capital, he won another war.

Opener and Unprogrammed Number Best Headliner in Applause.

Applause honors were divided at the Orpheum theater yesterday afternoon but not by the headliner and feature acts as one might be led to suspect.

On the contrary, the first hit was registered by Don Valerio and his company, who had the doubtful distinction of opening the vaudeville program. Valerio bills himself as Italy's premier vice dancer and it is safe to say that he begins his light work where he has variety coursing leave off. He also has two talented young women with him. The act is clever, the work smooth and the general impression excellent.

Second on the program and second, incidentally, on the honor roll was The Temple Trio, an unprogrammed act billed at the eleventh hour to replace Haru (one of the Japanese prima donnas, who is ill in San Francisco). The replacement act consisted of three young men who sang in a delightful manner a series of old ballads featuring a negro folk song that was the outstanding offering. This number was led by George Archer, formerly popular in musical comedy circles here.

Headlining this week's program are Felix Adler and Frances A. Ross in "A Zeppelin over the City of London," which was a riot for the first few minutes. Another pretentious act is Earl Andrus's "Dances of the 1920s," a collection of songs and dances in a picturesque setting. The scenic effects and the costumes made up for the lack of talent especially noticeable in the chorus numbers.

Other numbers on the bill are Frank and Teddy Sabini in a rather wearisome dialect comedy offering of the slap-stick variety; and the White Brothers, tumblers who scored the house round out the afternoon. This week's picture is "Lock Your Best with Colleen Moore and Antonio Moreno"—W. S.

NATIONS' LEAGUE DENOUNCED FOR STAND ON OPIUM

House Foreign Relations Committee Refuses

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASSED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, April 23. — The League of Nations, "instead of suppressing the traffic in habit-forming drugs, did quite the contrary," Chairman Porter of the House foreign affairs committee declared in a letter to Lord Robert Cecil, leading British proponent of the league, who is now in Washington, declining an appointment to discuss the activities of the league's opium commission. The letter was made public today.

Porter took issue with a statement in an article signed by Lord Robert that the league had "struck vigorous blows at world evils like opium, cocaine and other noxious drugs" and enclosed with his letter copies of his committee's hearings - and its report on the resolution adopted in the following days during the last session of Congress calling for limitation of production of opium and coca-leaves to the quantity "needed only for strictly medicinal and scientific purposes."

The similar resolution was submitted by the Bureau of Indian Affairs to the League Assembly, he said, the latter substituted the word "legitimate" for the phrase "strictly medicinal and scientific" and suggested that the committee delegate that "the Indian population is throughout vast areas without adequate medicinal assistance and therefore habitually takes opium in small doses as a prophylactic, effective remedy against diseases."

The use of opium enumerated by the Indian delegate were "clearly medicinal," Porter added, "and therefore there was no necessity for the amendment."

Porter said he was curious to know how in view of this "recognition of the legitimacy of the opium traffic in certain parts of the world," the league intended to discharge, as far as this evil was concerned, "the sacred trust of civilization for the well-being and development of people not yet able to stand by themselves," as set forth in its covenant.

WOMAN IS BADLY INJURED BY LEAP OUT OF WINDOW

Mrs. Mabel Gannon Prefers Death to Hospital; Her Condition Serious.

Attempting to end her life, Mrs. Mabel Gannon, 608 Twelfth street, early today jumped from the window of her home to the pavement, about twenty feet below, and is now in a serious condition in the emergency hospital.

W. S. Gannon reported to the police that his wife had been ill for some time and was to have been removed to an institution today. He said she had threatened to kill herself if an attempt was made to take her from her home, and took advantage of an opportunity offered her this morning when she leaped from her bedroom window. Hospital attendants say she may have sustained internal injuries.

About a month ago, Mrs. Gannon attempted to kill herself by throwing herself in front of a street car. At that time she was rescued by a nurse who was attending her. The nurse threw the woman from the path of the car and was herself painfully hurt when struck by the car.

ROBBED BY TWO MEN.
SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Two bandits armed with revolvers, early yesterday held up and robbed William S. Gannon of $17.25 at Alhambra and Scott streets.

A DIFFERENCE OF BILLIONS.

An itemized account of what Germany claims to have paid to the Allies has been prepared by the German Treasury Department and has been submitted to Washington. The total which is declared to have been turned over to the victors in the world war is $20,000,000,000.

This figure challenges a number of things including belief. The difference between it and the amount which the Allies say has been paid is one of billions of dollars. One side or the other has made an amazingly large mistake.

It is not known whether the action of Germany in presenting this statement was made upon her own initiative or as a result of a request from the United States Government. Coming at this time it would seem there are reasons to believe Secretary Hughes is responsible and that the first definite step toward an accounting of the war payments has been taken.

Until a responsible auditing of accounts is made charges of bad faith can have no weight other than that of partisanship. The allies claim Germany has not paid twenty billions and Germany asserts she has. Moreover, Germany has presented the statement. The thing to do is examine that statement, correct it if it is faulty, and reach a total which can be placed before the world as one approximately representative of what has been paid. In performing that office the United States will have accomplished something toward restoring Europe's financial stability.

THE LOST METEORITE.

When an object weighing 57 tons may be lost for more than a hundred years it must be accepted that the world still has its remote and inaccessible places. The long lost meteorite, now reported found once more, is supposed to have fallen in the territory of Chaco, Argentina, 300 years ago. For close to two hundred years it cannot be listed as lost because no one knew of its presence. It was in 1812 that it was definitely reported and an analysis made which showed it to consist of meteoric iron, pure nickel and cobalt. One specimen was sent to the British Museum and another to Buenos Aires.

As the meteorite was described at that time it weighed 57 tons, was nine feet six inches long, six feet in width and four feet seven inches thick. In spite of all this bulk those who found it once could not do so again and several expeditions which have sought it have failed. The great meteorite, specimens of which were deposited in museums, was effectively lost but the idea of finding it was never abandoned. A reward of 2,000 gold pesos, about $1,800, was offered in 1873 by the Governor of Santiago del Estero and now, just fifty years after, four men have come out of the woods to claim the money.

If these men can prove their story and can guide others back to the huge block of metal they will have done as much as Carnarvon did when he found the long lost King Tutankhamen. Science studies meteorites with as much interest as it studies Pharaohs and there is something assuring in the analysis which show other bodies in space are made of the same elements which make the earth. The inhabitants of this sphere may say that it is at least as good as any other.

THE ONLY RESULTS.

Something out of the calculations of those who have encouraged the long-distance dance performances by furnishing balls and offering prizes, is a new attention which has been turned to dancing in general. Cities which have allowed the accepted dances to go on are discovering grounds for objections; Sacramento has banned all dancing in the schools; and a new way for the prohibition of the Chicago "L" and "Circle" and "the rocking horse," is being

It was not to be expected that those who danced through the days and nights could foresee that they were about to step off a record and into the hands of the lag. If they were equipped with the physical mechanism for thought they would not be pitting shoe leather and leg-muscle against the opportunities for a doubtful publicity.

Happily there are indications the "marathon dance" craze is waning. The toll is being reckoned and it includes at least one case of physical collapse, one of insanity and a number of permanent injury. The distance dancers have done little more than attract a new attention to dances and dance halls.

THE OLD SONGS.

There is comfort for the man who holds to the belief that the "good old songs" are better songs and more loved than the jazz strains of today in the results of a questionnaire sent to directors of choral singing all over the country. Kenneth S. Clark of New York commented upon those results before the Musical Supervisors National Conference in Cleveland a few days ago and in his comment there is much to arouse the ever willing reminiscence.

Three of the songs considered among the first in favor are those of Stephen C. Foster, "Old Folks at Home," "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Old Black Joe." While no other composer was represented by so many, there were many negro melodies in the list, notably "Liza Jane" and "Carry Me Back to Ole' Virginia."

It was demonstrated that "America, the Beautiful," a modern work, has popularity and that "Home Sweet Home," the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Star Spangled Banner" were used on a large number of programs.

Of the old standbys the qualities of which are not infrequently strained by ambitious harmonic attempts, "Sweet Genevieve," "Sweet Adeline," and "Till We Meet Again" won heavy votes. Perhaps because it has an added appeal as being appropriate to many occasions "Good Night, Ladies" scored high in the list.

In this questionnaire may be suggestions for the modern composer of popular music. If the public is sticking faithfully to the old songs there may be grounds for the belief that melody, after all, has some place in the program.

FARMER'S BUYING POWER.

The purchasing power of the American farmer is increasing and in that fact is as firm a reason for predicting a continuance of prosperity as in the building evidences closer at hand. The United States Department of Agriculture has announced that the index figure denoting this rising purchasing power for February is 69 as compared with 68 in January. Although prices of commodities other than food the farmers buy have jumped two points during the month, prices of crops went up four points and that of live stock one point.

The average farm price of ten leading crops is placed at 130 as an index number as compared with 126 in January and this is the highest point reached since December, 1920, when the number was 131. Higher prices for wheat, oats, cotton and corn are mainly responsible.

Livestock prices, while better, have not fared so well. They have had their ups and downs over a two-year period. The index figure of prices for six items in livestock is 107 for February against 106 in January, while the average in 1922 was 111.

On commodity prices in general the index figure has been placed at 172 for February against 170 in January. The average for 1922 was 163 and for 1921 was 161.

LASSEN PERFORMING.

When airplanes become as numerous as automobiles are now, each report of an eruption at Lassen Peak will be answered by the whirr of the propellers as the thousands tune up their machines for a visit to the only active volcano in the United States. At it is, every year there are men and women who cross the country to see Lassen Peak.

Californians have the advantage over the rest of the country because they are able to catch the peak in action. It is not a long trip from Oakland and each season is seeing the comings and goings of the great volcano.

is a national park; it is known over the country and the world. In the "See America First" program it has been given prominent mention.

How many Californians have taken advantage of an opportunity that is close at hand?

When in doubt, remember Einstein was right.

THE USUAL THING.

It is human nature to despise those who fail to appreciate us, and Mme. Ganna Walska is only running true to the general form when she makes snoring remarks about the American music critics because they declined to say nice things regarding her singing, and failed to hail her as a great star.

It is unlikely that the critics will be unduly disturbed. They are used to this sort of thing. Many European musicians come here thinking that America is untutored and crude, and without discrimination, and assuming that as a matter of course they are to be lauded merely because they come from abroad with more or less of a name.

THE INTERNA

COPYRIGHT 1922

Dancing seems suddenly to have become a mania; a young woman danced for forty hours; another one set the record at fifty; another one who tried to make it thirty recently led away from the ballroom, screaming, insane, unable to stop. As this is written from various parts of the country ambitious youth of both sexes are striving to dance one hundred hours without stopping.

There was a girl in Gotham town whose feet were full of folly; She moved in such a restless way they called her Dancing Dolly.

Probably the long-distance dance, for those who are indulging in it, represents not merely a physical and nervous outlet; it is also an intellectual thing with them. It is an expression of their intelligence. It is not that they do not think at all, for it takes a certain amount of mentality to learn to dance. They think just enough to dance by.

The knot that would have been brain within her little noddle Had never thought beyond the verb to toddle, toddle, toddle.

But why think at all when you can have such a good time without it?—It is up to society to discover that these dancing extremists are, unconsciously, instinctively, registering a protest against the puritan extremists. It is their gesture, as Fothergill Finch would put it.

There has been a good deal of talk of evil spirits lately. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle tells us that there are a lot of them sticking around. Aunt Prudence Hecklebury is sure to get the notion that this dancing craze is due to the evil spirits. Possession by devils, if you get what we mean. And it may be true, for all we know.

Blisters came, then callouses, and soon the callous turned into a kind of cloven hoof. A devil was discerned!

But why should Dancing Dolly Object to cloven hoofs? They only set her off. She turned into a witch. She wore towers and roofs. She danced on forever; she never more can stop. Living in the feet of her, and dead at the top!

Speaking of spirits, fermentation isn't what it used to be. We bought a case of grape juice not long ago, perfectly legal grape juice, fermented grape juice, mild and innocent grape juice that might without rebuke have swum across the palate of a Volstead or flitted the fonsils of a Bryan. The young fellow from whom we bought it told us that, under certain conditions, it would not turn into wine. And the darned stuff didn't. Grapes are getting afraid to ferment. Lord Northcliffe, it seems, has been talking to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle since he passed over.

We can think of a couple of newspaper proprietors we should like to have the privilege of talking to through a medium. And a couple of magazine editors. It seems to me that a man as busy as Northcliffe was should not be allowed to take a well-earned rest. When we die we hope that we shall be permanently disconnected from the newspaper business.

But it may be our punishment to be chained to a column throughout all eternity. A perpetual prisoner of Chillon. In the society of Archy, perhaps.

Most of the ghosts we hear from by way of the spiritualistic mediums are getting along too well to be any comfort to us personally. What we need is some one who will come back and cheer us up concerning hell. Some ghost who will say: "Don't be so downhearted! The first ten thousand years are the worst! After that it is just like domesticity, or holding down a job, or anything else."

What do you call this? "Money" Gazette" headline, April 2, 1922: "Fifty-two-Mile Pram Race—Baby Wheeled From London to Paris in 10 Days."

Lincoln said that it is impossible to fool all the people all the time. But it is astonishing how far some politicians are able to go in that general direction.

Humanity has always been willing to fight for ideas. . . even ideas that most of the population don't

DON MARQUIS.

Obedient Orders.

Hiking through a small French town an ignorant chicken, unversed in the appetites of American soldiers, crossed the road in front of a negro detachment. With much zeal a soldier broke forth from the ranks and set out in pursuit. "Halt!" bellowed the officer in charge. Both fowl and negro only accelerated their paces. "Halt! Halt!" repeated the officer. The dusky doughty made one plunge, grasping the chicken by the neck and stuffed it still struggling, inside his shirt.

"Yes, sir," he panted. "Ah! I learn you to halt when the captain says halt."—Milwaukee Journal.

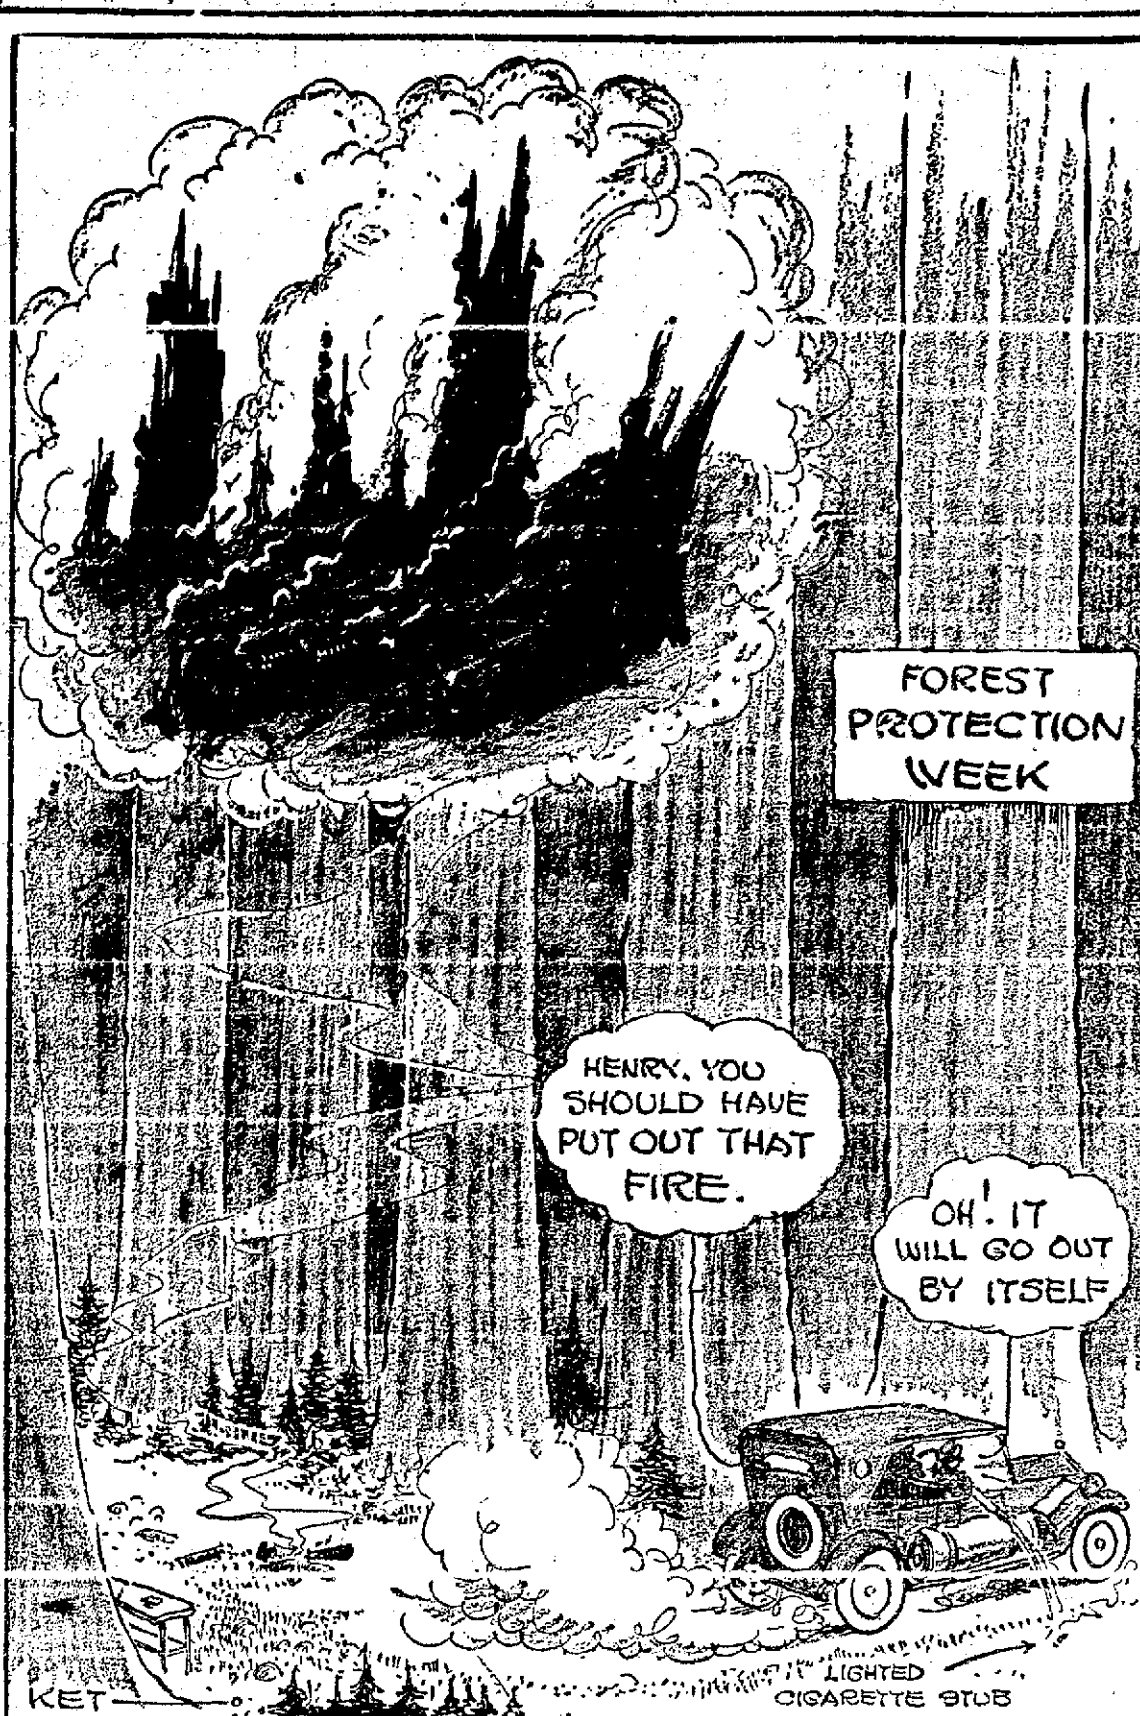

Safety First. The following story was floating round the Devonshire club the other day:

A hotel manager coming along the corridor saw the "boots" kneeling on the floor and cleaning a pair of boots outside a bedroom door.

"Haven't I told you that you are not to clean the boots in the corridor but to take them down stairs?"

"Yes, sir." "Then why are you doing it?" "Because in this room is a Scotchman, sir, and he's hanging on to the 'boots.'—Casell's Weekly (London).

HOW IT STARTED.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Brooklyn Eagle: That a 14-year-old boy in knickerbockers should have won last night's Current Events Bee against a field of seasoned competitors is one of the many surprises which these annual competitions have produced. Theodore Averbals did much of his studying in his father's little candy store. He specialized in foreign politics and made himself so familiar with the men and events of the world at large that no question seemed to find him unprepared.

Chicago Tribune: It is interesting to note that missionaries on behalf of the league of nations, who come to us from abroad, are all trying to coo us into the league. The league is not going to force or discipline any one. It is merely going to create an atmosphere of friendliness. Our attention is called to the fact that under the covenant the objection of one member of the council is sufficient to prevent action of any kind. That is the liberum veto which helped to destroy Poland in the days when one selfish or foolish noble could obstruct any measure proposed in the diet.

Deseret News: The passing of Bishop Tuttle, a moving figure in the early history of Utah, the older generation of Salt Lake City will remember this remarkable man. He was, by nature, by thought and by sympathies, cosmopolitan. His universality of thought and judgment made of him a friend to all classes and to all creeds. "It is hard," he said upon one occasion, "to make a dividing line between my religion and humanity." The younger generation of several decades ago, who call to memory the services which he rendered to youth.

New Orleans Item: The Orleans School Board is getting better. It has just passed a resolution requesting "all employees of the school board to retire from active politics or resign." The board craftily preserves its own freedom of action by the neat phrasing of the rule. This prohibition touches the employees and not the board. This possibly saves us the awful situation of several vacancies at the top in the department of education.

Washington Post: The wisdom of the ostrich speaks in William Jennings Bryan's proposal to combat evolution by placing it under ban of law. Does the Commoner expect rational humans to imitate that bird and imagine themselves immune from scientific theories and discoveries merely by sinking their heads in the sands of ignorance?

Detroit Free Press: A good deal of discussion about the future political prospects of Vice-President Calvin Coolidge is going the rounds, and there appears to be a disposition in some quarters to fight against his re-nomination for a second term. This ought not to disturb Mr. Coolidge. A man of his capabilities and popularity in his home state ought to be able to find something more enlightening than the job of leading over the state of the United States. As some of the eastern papers are suggesting, he might aspire to a seat in the senate, where he certainly would be far more useful to America than he can possibly be in his present place.

Ruth Roland is said to be the richest of the movie stars. This is the talk around Hollywood, where she is believed to be worth a trifle of three million dollars. Ten years ago she was buying a $750 lot in Los Angeles on the installment plan—$10 down and $10 a week. Chicago Enterprise.

Turlock must make and hold their place among the modern cities of its size, it must provide a playground, featured to hold her people and attract outsiders, instead of compelling them to seek their pleasures in outside communities. Turlock Journal.

"On with the dance," is a familiar quotation, but we never knew how really familiar it could get till it applied to young ladies with muscular legs and ivory domes. Hanford Sentinel.

The apex of altruism is achieved in the announcement of the California branch of the state street that it will not raise prices for the present, but that it has no sugar to sell. San Bernardino Sun.

A BOY'S HOPE FOR THE FUTURE.

I'd like to hunt for buffalo and ride the western slope. I'd like to be a cowboy and make circles with a rope. I'd like to be a trapper and sit 'round a fire at night. An' hear the wolves an' catamounts a-growling at the light.

But buffalo an' catamounts I guess I'll never see. Coz Pa says that he hopes to make a lawyer out of me.

I'd like to be an acrobat, performing in the air. Pretending I was going to fall to give the folks a scare. I'd like to balance on a pole an' dangle from my teeth.

An' frighten all the little boys an' girls who sit beneath. But Uncle John, he says he hopes for higher things than that. An' I should have to run away to be an acrobat.

I'd like to be a circus clown and run around the ring. An' wear a funny suit of clothes, an' laugh at everything. I'd like to paint my face all white an' have a lot of fun.

But Ma says that she must be proud to say "that I'm her son." She wants to hold her head up high, as high as it can be. An' she is hoping she can make a preacher out of me.

One Universal Prayer.

A Chinese has opened a session of the Ohio legislature with prayer. It is the first time anything of the sort ever happened, a novelty in the history of our nation. Prayers are offered daily in the legislature and in Congress, because our nation has for its motto, "In God we trust," and under God its existence. But a "heathen Chinese" has never been asked to pray for a law-abiding body in the United States, till Dr. Hlong stood up at Columbus, and lifted his voice in earnest supplication.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

It is said that no university in the world, and no nation since the time of the ancient Greeks, has boasted such an amphitheatre as the one that is being built for the University of California.

PERSONAL SERVICE

A BOTTLE A DAY.

In the first three eventful days while his howling highness is hanging around waiting to see whether mother is going to be a 100 per cent mammy, he should receive some four hours after the first 13 hours, a bottle of water that has been boiled; of this he may take from one to two ounces each time, through a regular nursing nipple. Should any one strongly opine that the poor little creature is like to starve, a compromise may be effected to the extent of dissolving in each two-ounces of water fed the baby not more than half a teaspoonful of lactose (otherwise known as milk sugar or sugar of milk) or half a teaspoonful of the common glycery product known as corn syrup (glucose).

Throughout his earlier career the main noise should have his bottle once a day, even though mammy comes up to scratch on the nursing proposition. A bottle of water every day, immediately after a nursing, or, later on, a bottle of modified milk once a day in place of one nursing, may prove a valuable plan, as the mother will find when it comes to wean the baby.

When the baby's weight fails to increase at least four ounces each week after the first week it is reasonable to assume that he is not getting sufficient breast milk; in that case the breast feeding may be supplemented by a bottle feeding once daily.

Besides failure to gain in weight—a lusty youngster may gain as much as eight ounces a week—other signs of insufficient nursing are fretfulness of the infant while nursing, a tendency to remain too long at the breast and crying when removed from the breast. The normal baby, receiving sufficient breast milk, nurses from 10 to 15 minutes and is then satisfied, usually falling asleep. When the baby nurses over 20 minutes the chances are the breast feeding is insufficient. A baby receiving insufficient breast milk generally has small slimy stools, that is, there is more than the normal quantity of mucus present, and usually only one or two movements daily, whereas the healthy, well-nourished breast baby should have three or four. Constipation in a breast fed baby strongly suggests too little food; this is best remedied by supplementing the breast feeding with one or more bottle feedings daily.

Of course, when there is reason to think the baby is getting insufficient food from the breast the mother should adopt such measures as have proved helpful in increasing the lactation. Frequently the fault is due to ill advised restrictions of the mother's diet. There is no class or variety of food which is ordinarily wholesome when a mother should avoid when nursing a baby. She should particularly include in her diet as much variety as possible, especially in the choice of vegetables, greens, fresh fruits and relishes. The common notion that the drinking of much tea or alcohol beverages improves lactation is a serious error, for these practices generally diminish the mother's capacity to nurse her baby.

Progress. Visitor—And has the baby learned to talk yet? Mother—My, yes! We're teaching him to keep quiet now.—Life.

FIREMEN BRAVE BLAZE TO RESCUE CHEST GIFTS

$500 SAVED AS FLAMES SWEEP MILL

Heroism At the Cotton Plant Fire Told by Executive Committee of Companion; Workers Hear Postmaster

The Community Chest campaign so far has obtained subscriptions amounting to $181,887, it was announced today at a luncheon attended by Community Chest workers.

The amount subscribed for a twenty-four hour period ending at noon today was $53,458.

Of the various acts that have been performed in the interest of the Community Chest, the executive committee of that organization today announced that perhaps the most heroic was that of members of the Oakland fire department, who last night braved death in the flames consuming a portion of the California Cotton and Lumber Co. building.

A factory bureau of the chest had been installed in the mills to receive the donations of the workers. The money had been locked in a safe when the fire broke out.

When the information was given that the donations of the workers were in the safe, a group of the firemen banded together and rushed into the burning office.

They smashed the desk open with axes and saved the money.

TEAMS RESUME WORK. Heads of the various teams collecting subscriptions reported this morning that the work of collection would be taken up today with renewed vigor.

Many of the teams worked over the weekend and the director of the campaign looked for a favorable report from these.

Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough was the speaker today at the Community Chest luncheon. He told of the work being done by the campaign of this year.

First, the opening, then the middle or the slump period and then the closing period, when all came together in a united effort to go "over the top."

He said that the middle or slump period at this time and I wish to say a few words today in the short time allotted me to endeavor to strengthen up the lines and do what I can to help you to unite our forces and stimulate them to greater effort.

SOME YEARS AGO when a drummer went into a new field he was compelled to educate the people to the use of his goods. Today his firm prepares the field through advertising and letters, so that when the traveling salesman now arrives in a strange city he is not only met with a warm welcome, but he is often received with a warm welcome.

ORGANIZATION TOLD. As chairman of the speakers' bureau I would like to tell you a few things about how we have paved the way for the splendid work you are now doing and made your task somewhat easier.

done previously to your entering the field. We first organized a speakers' bureau by gathering together the men who distinguished themselves in this city during the Liberty Loan campaign; then the members of several speakers' courses in the University Extension Courses given through the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; then the attorneys and ministers whose profession is speaking; then the other business men who have distinguished themselves in the past.

Nor have we overlooked the importance of our women speakers, whom we secured through various organizations here in the city of Oakland and who have formed a splendid part of our organization and rendered yeoman service to the cause.

201 SPEAKERS. Knowing that we were to be called upon by practically every organization in the entire city of Oakland day or night, it was necessary to have a very large number of active men and women in this work. Accordingly, we signed up 201 speakers. Thus far 87 have talked, filling 352 dates, each speaking report-

Chinese Team in Community Chest Work

Evidence that Oakland's Community Chest is a real community effort is furnished by this team of Chinese women who are canvassing a district of their own under the direction of the campaign committee. Photo shows, left to right, rear row: MRS. G. CHUNG, MARY N. WONG (captain), and MRS. KUNG CHEW; front row, left to right: MRS. JOSEPH CHEW, MRS. JUE LI TONG and MRS. GEORGE LONG.

City Must Dig Deeper, Warn Leaders of Chest

The following statement was issued today by the executive committee of the Community Chest:

The Community Chest campaign is now entering upon its last stage. The executive committee is not satisfied with the progress thus far made. The people of Oakland have not aroused themselves to the magnitude and significance of the effort.

Many are giving generously but nevertheless the entire campaign must be speeded up. To the workers this committee would urge intensive work during the remaining days of the campaign.

To the subscribers it points to the utmost necessity of "digging deep."

In a very vital sense Oakland is on trial. Other communities have adopted the Community Chest and made a success of it.

Oakland cannot afford to start and not finish. We must go through and we must go through within the next five days.

Truly there cannot be an individual in Oakland who does not realize some obligation to one of the forty-three agencies included in the Community Chest budget.

If it is important to you, that your contribution go to some particular agency designate the agency. Do not make all the number of people in his audience, and up to date we have actually addressed 58,686, including theaters.

We have averaged about twenty-five talks a day, although our biggest day, last Thursday, our speakers addressed thirty-five meetings and talked to 9500 people.

I felt that knowing these facts it would give you a new confidence to go forth and ask those who have heard our eloquent appeals for their donations, which I believe in their own hearts they are now willing to give for the asking.

CAMPAIGN FOR WATER IS LAUNCHED

Speakers Chosen by Bureau to Urge the Necessity for Voting for Increased Supply at Election On May 8

Eastbay cities joined today in a campaign to put over the water district at the general election May 8.

Campaign headquarters were opened at 355 Twelfth street, a speakers' bureau was named and it was announced that during the two weeks remaining before election day the organization will function day and night to impress upon the people the necessity of taking a definite step to solve the Eastbay water problem.

Roscoe Jones, the newly elected president of the Municipal Water District League, announced that W. E. Strel, chairman of the executive committee of the league, will be campaign manager, and at the same time speakers to carry the message were named from all parts of the district affected.

SPEAKERS ARE CHOSEN. Among them are W. H. Graham of Oakland, chairman of the speakers' bureau; Le Roy Goodrich, secretary; and a host of others.

Jesse Robinson, J. H. Pemberton, H. C. Cutting, Charles H. Secombe, W. J. Locke, Harrison S. Robinson, Rabbi Rudolph I. Cohen, L. B. Mangos, Mrs. Frank G. Law, Mrs. Mary E. Merritt, Miss Clara B. Sikes, Mrs. C. B. Weymann, W. J. Cannon, S. J. Russell, W. M. Rosaph, D. J. Hall and H. D. Chapman.

The first of a series of meetings to be addressed by these speakers was held today before the Alta Mira club in San Leandro, with Mrs. Law explaining the water situation.

According to leaders in the campaign the Eastbay section from San Leandro to Richmond faces a crisis which is bound to become more acute as time goes on unless steps are taken at once to better the official report of the Chamber of Commerce committee was pointed to as the final word in calling attention to the emergency.

WATER FAMINE FEARED. According to the report the Eastbay will certainly have a water famine by 1925 unless new sources of supply are developed. A dry year, it is said, might prove a commercial shock that would rock the Eastbay to its foundations.

Hundreds of homes in Oakland and Emeryville are known to have dried their own wells in recent years in order to gain a supply of water.

Water District Appeal Made by Mayor Davie

Mayor Davie, who headed the committee of Eastbay mayors who originally breached the water-district subject, today announced himself in favor of the proposed water district which comes before the voters on May 8, and pleaded that the citizens of Oakland vote in favor of the public utilities district.

The project was taken up by the mayors of the nine Eastbay cities from Richmond to San Leandro, nearly a year ago. They held many meetings in Mayor Davie's office and, outlining the machinery for the handling of the water district subject, agreed that they should go no further lest the issue become mixed with the personal campaigns of the mayors, or the politics of the various cities.

The mayors agreed that the matter should not become confused in the public mind with the political views of the public officials, and finally decided to let the civic bodies and improvement clubs take charge of the whole matter. This was done about three months ago.

Mayor Davie asserts he is in favor of the public utilities district, and makes the following statement:

"My ideas on the subject of a future water supply for Oakland cannot be other than those of any far-sighted citizen with an interest in the future growth of Oakland. Officers of the East Bay Water company have stated repeatedly that their present sources of supply can satisfy Oakland's requirements for only a few years, and any adequate water supply must be developed."

"The present legislation, providing for the formation of a municipal utility district, is the result of over two years' earnest effort on the part of the Eastbay mayors' water committee, of which I was chairman."

"The mechanism is prepared. It is for the people of the community to decide whether they desire private ownership and development of a future water supply, or whether it shall be handled as a public utility."

"I stand committed, as I always have, to the principle of municipal ownership of our water supply."

"I feel that water is a public necessity and that the control of the water supply and distribution should be in the hands of the people."

"We have in Oakland a large number of active organizations, each interested in the growth, development and future of this city."

U.C. STUDENT BODY BEGIN SECOND VOTE

Election Follows Ruling That First Voting Was Illegal; William W. Monahan Is Unopposed for Presidency

BERKELEY, April 23.—For the second time within a week, students at the University of California, are balloting for officers for the coming year.

Today's election follows a ruling of the executive committee of the Associated Students that last Wednesday's balloting was illegal in that farm students at Davis voted without having their status defined legally.

William W. Monahan, junior, registered as having no opposition for student body president, Russell Lockhart, Los Angeles, the winner at last Wednesday's balloting having withdrawn.

So also Miss Mary Elizabeth Fox and Miss Adeline Bowden, elected vice-president of the student body and senior women's representative respectively, will keep their offices without contest, their opponents having withdrawn.

James Ralph III, son of Mayor James Ralph of San Francisco, elected as Union and Gold officer for the coming year, will contest for that honor with two other students.

SUPREME COURT GETS LAND CASES

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The alien land cases brought from California and Washington, four in number, involving the constitutionality of laws of those states which prohibit aliens who are not eligible to citizenship from leasing or owning real estate were reported for argument in the supreme court today.

The cases heard were those of W. L. Hartman and Y. Yamashita, of Raymond Park and N. Suto, and of J. J. O'Brien and others, all against the attorney general and other officers of California; and of Frank Terrace and wife and N. Nakatsuka against the attorney general of Washington.

HELP FOR THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BUILD

HOW TO KEEP DOWN YOUR BUILDING COST

This is the third of a series of articles to appear in this column on "How to Lower Home Building Costs," by the Architects Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

It has been pointed out in two previous articles that have appeared in this column that there are only two ways to lessen building costs. The first, to get a contractor through competition who will agree to build your house at a fair price; second, and perhaps the most important, to reduce your requirements.

The suggestions that follow are not a specification of materials nor are the figures exact.
They are approximate and will vary with the size of the house and locality. Do not take the exact figures in each case you must obtain costs from your local dealer. These items are suggested for your consideration because they are items that come up every day in the experience of people who approach home building for the first time, and especially with people who have only a limited building budget.

As a basis for considering reduced expenditures and less expenditure, consider a frame house of five or six rooms outside dimensions approximately 25x30 feet. This is an average small home.

First, by omitting the basement partitions you will save from $50 to $100.

Second, a fireplace with marble and all that it involves in labor and materials will cost from $250 to $400.

Third, a brick base course will improve the appearance of your home. It will increase the resale value of the home. It will cost
from $50 to $100.

Fourth, built-in fittings in the kitchen will cost you from $100 to $200 depending upon their design and extent. It might be less expensive for you to do without these at least temporarily, substituting therefore one of the readymade devices of this kind.

By omitting the built-in fittings at the kitchen sink and the readymade kitchen cabinets are preferable and they may cost you less money.

Fifth, if you omit the porch
you may save from $500 to $600.

Sixth, if you do not close the porch, you may save from $100 to $200. You can build a screen later on when you do the glazing when your funds will permit you to do so.

Seventh, regarding the porches an extra expense, there are various kinds of wire cloth for screening. You must be prepared to select the kind which is within your means.

Eighth, some home plans call for 12-inch foundation walls. To conform with the building codes of many cities, if you live where restrictions do not require this thickness, you may reduce it slightly, thus decreasing the cost.

Ninth, perhaps you do not need to finish all the rooms just now, omitting the plaster, thus saving from $100 to $200. You can finish later, when you have the money
to do so.

Tenth, the next article to appear in this column will continue this list, showing how reduced expenditures may be made. The cost of from $100 to $500 in a small home.

POPULAR DUTCH COLONIAL

Copyright, 1923—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Home Builders' Clinic.

HERE is a dignified home—economical in build, designed in the Colonial style and planned to meet every modern need. It is one of those fortunate designs suitable for almost any locality and it is also adapted to either automatic or country conditions.

The house will require a 30-foot lot. By omitting the porch, it can be placed on a 40-foot lot.
Six good rooms, a bath and sun porch are provided in this house, besides numerous conveniences that make the home unusually comfortable.
This is what is known as the Central Hallway.

By omitting the stairs in the center of the house, it permits corner bedrooms, which thereby receive light, air and sunshine from two sides.

A splendid living room extends the full depth of the house, and is dominated by a handsome hickory fireplace. A glazed French door leads from the living room to the sun porch.

The kitchen has two windows to provide light, sunshine and adequate ventilation. This room is small, but planned to minimize steps and lessen housework.

Three good bedrooms, each with a closet; bath, built-in medicine cabinet, and linen closet in the hall, complete the second floor plan.

The house is of frame construction, brick chimney, shingle roof, sided walls. In the house illustrated here, the owner has placed a garage beneath the sun porch.

The cost to erect this home complete, including lighting, plumbing, ready to live in, but not including the garage and driveway, will range between $8000 and $10000, depending upon equipment and location.

The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureau of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., located at

States Bureau maintains an information department regarding the blue print cost, address the home

Q—What makes wood expand and contract? Sometimes the doors in our house are too large and sometimes they are too small. What is the reason for this?

A—Wood expands and contracts according to the amount of moisture that it contains. The dryer it is the greater the shrinkage. Wood is very much like a sponge. It takes up and gives off moisture depending upon the condition of the air around it. Much of this can be avoided by using wood that is properly seasoned before it is used in building. Proper painting and finishing of the wood-work will help. Perhaps you are humidifying the air of your house too much.

Q—What is the best way to find out whether a smoke flue is going to be gas tight?

A—The best method is to build a fire in the base of the flue and make a quantity of smoke. When the smoke is flowing freely in the flue close it tightly at the top and then note whether the smoke leaks out into other flues in the chimney stack. The flue is not safe if it leaks. Immense fires have started from defective flues.

Q—I understand it has been proven that common asbestos paper pasted to the warm side of a furnace does no good, and that it has caused more more rapidly than the bare tin. If this is true, does asbestos paper pasted on the pipe where it comes in contact with wood protect the wood or not?

A—It has been clearly shown that sheets of plain asbestos paper pasted to a warm side of a furnace is not a heat insulator. It would therefore not be con- sidered of much value as a fire resistant. Wherever cracking of plastering and so on. If you have the outside walls of masonry, the inside bearings of masonry joists should also be of masonry. If the necessary thickness of this material is not available, it would be objectionable to use steel beams spanning from masonry piers or masonry walls for the inside supports of the floor joists.

Q—We have decided to have the outside walls of our house of tile. One end of the floor joists will rest on these walls. What should we put on in the center of the house?

A—The principle is to have the same kind of support at both ends of joists. In this way settlement is equalized and the building remains in much better condition with less cracking of plastering and so on. If you have the outside walls of masonry, the inside bearings of masonry joists should also be of masonry. SUPERVISORS TO BACK PLANS FOR
VETERAN HOSPITALBoard Wires Bureau Head Urging Continuance of Livermore Plans.

Members of the Alameda county board of supervisors telegraphed Major General T. H. Hines, director of the United States Veterans Bureau, today urging that he continue with the plans for the establishment of the sanatorium for ex-service men at Cresta Blanca, near Livermore.

The board passed a resolution in protest to the proposed abandonment of the Livermore site, following an address of M. G. Callaghan, Livermore postmaster, who said that Los Angeles had organized a powerful campaign to have all the hospital available for the hospital utilized in the construction of an institution in that city.

SURVEY IS PLANNED.
Callaghan read a telegram from Matthew O'Brien, San Francisco architect, who is in Washington in the interests of the Livermore site, saying that officials of the bureau are preparing a survey of a number of hospital sites on the Pacific coast and that plans for the Cresta Blanca hospital have been dropped. He said the hospital survey board of the bureau would be in this vicinity in a short time and urged that local organizations be prepared to receive them and convince them of the advantage of the Livermore site.

According to word received from O'Brien, the bureau is weighing the respective advantages of a hospital at Livermore and another in Los Angeles, or the elimination of one of these institutions in order to leave funds for the improvement of existing conditions.

BIDS REPORTED REJECTED.
Official word received by the Tribune from the Veterans Bureau Saturday was to the effect that all bids on the Livermore hospital, for which a $300,000 site has already been purchased, have been rejected, and no particular spot has been given a preference.

Officials of the Oakland and San Francisco Chambers of Commerce today reported that they had received no replies to the telegrams they sent Friday asking the bureau for an official statement of the hospitalization situation.

Castro said through an interpreter that he was playing cards when Lopez shot him.

U. C. Now Prep School for Vaudeville Stage

Brains Are Added To Beauty in Co-ed Ballet

BERKELEY, April 23.—The college-educated ballet maid has arrived. A whole company of 'em is being organized in Berkeley preparatory to making their debut on the Orpheum circuit.

Brains and beauty will be theirs for such, say their sponsors, will be the demand for the chorus maid and the ballet dancer of tomorrow.

Here are the members of the first "college-bred" ballet company to appear on any professional stage.

Anita Avila, daughter of a Fresno banker, junior student, dancing star of many college productions and director of dancing in this year's Parthenia; Helen Howell, daughter of Mrs. John Gilson Howell, well-known Berkeley dramatic leader and herself a dancer of unusual ability; Viola Worden Smith, who will appear professionally as Viola Worden, member of a prominent Berkeley family; Mary Carpenter, Virginia Reed, Jeannette Collett and Grace Furch, all favorites in college and social circles.

Mrs. Portia Mansfield Sweet and Miss Charlotte Perry, "headliners" in the professional world as the organizers of theatrical dancing company, are the sponsors of the college maids' chorus. One company trained by the two dance leaders has just finished a successful engagement in New York and is on its way to Europe. So enamored were Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Perry with the grace and beauty of the college maids that they interested Pacific Coast directors of the Orpheum circuit in the girls, and a summer tour in the West is now practically assured.

All of the seven girls in the Berkeley company plan to make the stage their life work. Their college education, say they, will give them "background" for their endeavors.

"Too long has the dancing girl been considered merely for her beauty," says Mrs. Sweet. "The public is demanding more than mere beauty now. It wants a certain degree of intelligence, and what's more fitting than a combination of brains and beauty?"

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

American Tourists
Crowd Cairo Hotels

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, April 23.—(By Associated Press.)—The presence of hundreds of American tourists in Cairo has caused a congestion in the hotels.

BREED MEASURE SUPPORTED BY COUNTY BOARD

The Alameda county board of supervisors today went on record as favoring the Breed bill, which limits the loads which may be transported over the state highways to a maximum weight of 20,000 pounds. Letters were sent to all the Alameda county representatives in the legislature, requesting them to support the bill, which is expected to be of great benefit to the highways by cutting 4,000 pounds off the maximum legal weight for loads.

Scions of $50,000
Rose Abloom in City Hall Plaza

The Daily Mail rose, whose ancestor cost $50,000 to produce, now blooms in pinkish profusion at the city hall, or Memorial plaza, where several dozen bushes are thriving. The transportation and planting of Daily Mail roses, according to city officials, gives Oakland about the costliest and best variety of rose in any civic garden in the country.

The rose originally came from England. An English newspaper, wishing to stimulate rose culture, offered a $50,000 prize to the botanists who could produce the most perfect rose. After a long competition, a deep pink flower was declared the winner and was named after the English newspaper.

The red and yellow tulips in the plaza, according to Landscape Architect Howard Gilkey, are not doing as well as in other years, as the general tulip blight has reached even the city hall garden. The tulips will be gone soon, anyhow.

Toward mid-June, the big circular bed at Fourteenth and San Pablo will be dug up to make room for an immense floral American Legion design, in honor of the Legion convalesce to be held here.

THIRTEEN SOFT
DRINK LICENSES
ARE CANCELLED

Thirteen soft drink licenses and one poolroom license, the largest batch since the Wright Act went into effect, were cancelled by the city council this morning at the request of Commissioner Frank Colbourne.

Colbourne requested that the council change Ordinance 588, so that boys under 21 years and not 18 years as at present, shall be excluded from poolrooms. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an amendment to Ordinance 588.

The poolroom whose license was revoked was the Okorin & Konaghan establishment at 583 Twelfth street. The soft drink licenses revoked for alleged violations of the liquor law were:

A. H. Browning, 551 Sixty-first; A. Viagas, 527 Seventh; E. R. Manrauth, 450 Tenth; Twentieth Century Club, 468 Eighth; M. J. Kelly, 471 Eighth; J. S. Zasco, 1590 Seventh; N. Boyle, 1171 Seventh; S. Arenas, 823 Broadway; L. Cambr, 1591 Fifth; L. Mail, 1041 Seventh; A. Bruschna, 1637 Seventh; A. LaFleur, Twenty-second and Broadway; G. H. Leonard, 1970 Telegraph avenue.

The revocations are at the suggestion of the new police "service squad," organized under Sergeant Edward Borck to handle all liquor, drug and abatement cases.
